Description:

Unlike their cousins, the Dunmer, the Drow live in the underworld. Here they have created their own empire which may seem strange and inhospitable to those living on the surface. An empire in which the sun never appears, a world without light which hides under the surface of Nirn. Many ancient secrets lurk in this inhospitable area.

However, over and over again the Drow come to meetings with the races of the upper world. The dwarves talk about people of evil and haughty dark elves. With their black skin which resembles obsidian they have adapted themselves perfectly to the circumstances of the underworld without any light. Their skin reflects every tone of grey up to perfect black again. Their hair is mostly silvery or pure-white, with some also pale-yellow. Their eyes have many colours, even blood-red. The Drow are relatively small and slender. Another sign of this race is their extremely beautiful appearance, especially with the aristocrats.

They ordinarily wear useful clothes which do not hinder in walking, running or fights. Wide trousers are preferred for ease of movement and in addition they wear boots which often go up to the thighs. The clothing mostly consists of a clinging shirt with men and an often revealing shirt with the women. Armless clothing is also the norm. About that the dark elves carry a wrap which is known as „Piwafwi“. The colour of the clothes can vary according to lifestyle of the Drow, however, dark colours are preferred--mostly dark red, deep-blue, black or a deep lilac. Nevertheless, this is only the normal clothes of the Drow. On special days or rituals they normally wear richly decorated clothing with intricate embroideries.

An aristocrat of Cheydinhal brought back a Drow's ritual armament from a diplomatic mission. It is described as a luxurious work. Golden embroidery decorates the otherwise very revealing garment which is from the finest crocodile-leather. Boots, gloves, Piwafwi, and even the helmet are made out of the same materials. In addition there should be a diadem whose shine is unequalled.

Unfortunately, the aristocrat has taken his treasure with him to the grave. In the crypt in the chapel of Cheydinhal he lies buried. Does that incredible armament also lie there?

Go figure it out. But be warned. Only the real hero of Cyrodiil – the Knight of the Nine – will be able to take this armament. Whoever is without the blessing of the Nine, will have to steal it...

Arynn's Drow Queen

Volume 2.0

Requires:

Male body: Robert's male (Version 3 upward)

Female body: Growlf's Hot Body 5.0 (recommended), HGEC or Exnems EyeCandy

Installation:

Extract the 7z-archive then copy and paste the files into your data folder.

If you were using my old plugin „Arynns Hot Armor“, I recommend that you deactivate this plugin to avoid conflicts with the new version. Then, activate the ESP file in the launcher or OBMM.

Bugs:

If you should find a bug, please send me a PM via „Scharessoft-Forum“ or „TES Eye Candy Forum“.

This mod shows a lot of naked skin, therefore I have to use body meshes. Some extreme animations like sneaking may cause clipping. I've tested a lot and the current version is imho the best compromise between good looks and clipping.

Credits:

I'd like to thank:

- AlienSlof for her support and the conversion of the male meshes and the spider-jewellery
- Morgaine, Tamira and Tanya for beta-testing
- Tanya and AlienSlof for correcting the english Readme-File ;-)
- The „Spieleabend“-Forum, the forum Sancre-Tor and the TESEyeCandy-Forum for the constructive criticism
- Growlf for his Bodyreplacer 5.0
- And Bethesda for a great game!!!

Have fun with the plugin!
